About me

We are highly motivated and results-driven software/mobile app developers with over 10+ years of experience in the industry. We have a passion for technology and creating innovative solutions that meet the needs of customers. Throughout our careers, We have gained a wealth of knowledge in the areas of software design and development, project management, and team leadership. Our experience includes a wide range of projects, from small-scale mobile applications to large-scale enterprise software systems. We have extensive experience in developing applications for Android and iOS platforms using Java and Swift programming languages, as well as experience in developing cross-platform applications using React

Native. We have a strong understanding of software development methodologies such as Agile, Scrum, and Waterfall, and have been involved in every stage of the software development lifecycle, from conceptualization to deployment.
